

Maxen is an information management specialist.
Specialists in creating technical documentation that can be used by everyone in your organisation.

- ▶ Process re-engineering
- ▶ Policies and procedures
- ▶ Intranet development
- ▶ Forms analysis and design
- ▶ User guides and manuals

We develop documents, intranet systems, user guides, forms and provide training for a wide range of Australian businesses.

Maxen specialises in creating technical documentation for non-technical people. Our documentation solutions allow your company to focus on what it does best. Our core strength is creating information management systems and solving information flow problems.

From 'hard copy' documentation right through to corporate intranet systems Maxen can assess your exact requirements, develop and implement your system, train your staff and provide all relevant procedure and quality assurance materials.

Maxen uses down to earth people and affordable software to ensure that we provide a great solution regardless of budget and technology. Maxen delivers quality products and services as well as teaching you the know-how to move ahead.

Founded in 1995, Maxen is a wholly Australian owned company based in Adelaide with interstate staff available in Sydney and Brisbane. Its founding Managing Director, Donald Halley, has more than 15 years experience in documentation and business consulting.

Talk to us

It costs nothing to discuss your requirements with Maxen. We'd be glad to discuss your requirements, so call or email using whichever means you'd prefer. We can also come to you.

Contact Donald Halley for further information:
email: info@maxen.com.au
phone: +61 8 8231 7900
fax: +61 8231 3766

Value added reseller for:

